<https://docs.google.com/forms/d/e/1FAIpQLSdvvx7icW2VgyLDD1qLeLT5x5AJB2iX5KaMRrb7VqtxX2Izrg/viewform?vc=0&c=0&w=1>

Idea for the project Active youth work in progress is descended from direct aims and objectives of the program Erasmus + on developing greater quality youth work and development of skills and of competences of youth workers as indispensable part of society, that importantly influences the development of youth in local, national and European communities.

Youth nowadays is becoming increasingly more demanding and critical about tools and methods that the youth workers are using - they are calling for more interactive and proactive tools and methods used and at the same time are turning attentions to more traditional contents such as social inclusion, equality, intercultural communication, abolishing of stereotypes, impatience, ... One of the aims for creating the project is the awareness of the project partners, that reflection of quality youth work is a qualified, confident and contemporary responsive youth worker, that influences the development of youth.

Participants of training will gain new knowledge in the field of social inclusion, intercultural communication, stereotypes, equality, at the same time they will get to know new methods and tools especially in including ICT technologies in activities. They will learn methods of recognising needs of the young, which activities they need to carry out with intention of developing those identified needs of the young, recognise the most appropriate methods and approaches for certain target groups of the young.

Training will produce an E-manual for youth workers in English language which will include a short theoretical description and the practical aspect on concrete activities done during the training.

The youth workers will develop specific key skills for the development of competences:

- competence for self-reflection and evaluation of one owns work;

- ability of learning possible connections between activities and competences, that these activities are encouraging at the young;
- ability of identifying needs of young and at the same time recognising activities, that are encouraging the development of identified needs;
- ability for planning, implementation and evaluation of workshops in field social inclusion, intercultural communication, stereotyping, etc;
- ability of efficient communication with groups and individuals in the process of youth work;
- ability to recognise differences between different needs of groups of the young and to adapt activities to the specific target group of the young;
- ability of creation of atmosphere, that stimulates and that motivates non-formal learning;

Objectives

- transfer of knowledge and skills in the field of methodologies and concrete activities and cases of good practices between the engaged youth workers and project collaborators;
- preparation of E-manual in English, that will be containing different methodologies used in the training: social inclusion, equality, recognising of stereotypes, identifications of needs of the young and intercultural communication;
- development of competencies of the youth workers on mentioned fields;
- use of ICT as a mean of interactive tool;
- to qualify the youth workers as independent facilitators of activities in their local communities;
- to stimulate youth workers on potential applications and adaptations of existing programs for inclusion of a wider circle of target groups of young;
- to qualify youth workers in use of new didactic procedures (example of pedagogical experiment);
- to equip youth workers to know how to recognise the needs of the young in their local communities and to prepare programs targeting the needs of the local youth;
- successfully implemented training with derivation and evaluation of all activities;
- to inform public and media on execution of the project of its objectives, aims and results.

Profile of the participants

Each partner organisation will select 2 participants. We have also determined the criteria of selecting the participants in the agreement between project partners. Participants will be chosen based on the short motivational letter and interest why they want to take part in training and as well based on a short CV and description of professional competences, knowledge and list of implemented activities. The participants are requested to fill out the application form here <https://docs.google.com/forms/d/1s9eOhliWZ->

Other possible and also cheaper airports: Zagreb, Venice, Trieste, Graz, Vienna. Before buying any travel tickets CONFIRM WITH THE HOSTING ORGANISATION.

Main activities:

The activities are explained in the activity programme on the following pages. The workshops are designed to support the preparation and the implementation of youth workers in which the obtained knowledge in workshops 1-7 will be tested in a real life situation with a youth group, which is going to be provided by the hosting organisation. Participating youth workers will have to implement a workshop of their choosing (either individual or in mixed groups) to a group of young people on the day 4, the 14th of November 2019. Through the process of delivering the workshop youth workers will learn the process, experience direct interaction with the youth and will have a feedback on their work both from the youth and other youth workers. A full day is intended for this workshop. In the programme it is also written which activities are planned to be prepared by the partners.

The training also foresees a visit to the Regional Museum of Celje and the Old Castle, all fees will be covered by the project. Old Castle of Celje - <http://castle.grad-celje.com/>

Šmartinsko Lake - <http://www.celje.si/en/card/smartinsko-lake>

Celje Hut - <http://www.celjska-koca.si/?lang=en>

Celjska koča (the Celje hut) with its hinterland is a part of a country side on the southern part of the Celje valley, for which the main characteristics is a hilly landscape, typical of this area is also the preserved natural habitat and small density of population. It is relatively close to the city Celje (8,5 km from Pečovnik and 12 km from Štore) and is connected to the valley with roads and hiking paths. Celjska koča (the Celje hut) is a well-known small Slovene ski slope with a long tradition in Štajerska district.

The Celje Regional Museum - <https://www.pokmuz-ce.si/en/>

The Celje Regional Museum, the second oldest museum in Slovenia, is situated in the old centre of the town. Its collections (from the prehistoric times till I. World War) are exhibitet in the The Old Counts`Mansion and the Princely Palace. The visitors should't miss the famouse Celje Ceiling, in situ presented remains of Roman town Celeia and the story of famous dynasty of the Counts of Celje. The archaeological exhibition site in the cellars of the Princely Palace is the largest presentation so far of the remains of Roman Celeia in situ. Its silent yet picturesque testimony invites you to walk among its ancient walls, which bear witness to the town's rich history.

Museum of Recent History Celje - <http://www.muzej-nz-ce.si/?lang=en>

Museum has an exhibition about Celje and its people in the 20th century, the only children's museum in Slovenia The Herman's Den, a skylight photographic studio from the end of the 19th century, a memorial place for victims of Nazi violence and the Slovenian dentistry collection.

We are looking forward to greeting you in our hometown!
